

Testing At Florissa

Florissa
Where children & families flourish

This is Florissa. Florissa is a place where kids of all ages come to learn skills and get help.

I am going to see the psychologist, who will get to know me, learn what I am good at, and find out if there are things my family or school could do to help me.

When I arrive at Florissa, I will stop at the front desk first. Someone will say hello and help me check in. Some of the people I might see when I check in are Danielle, Janet, or Laura.

After I check in, I will wait in the waiting room. I can play with toys, read books, or sit quietly while I wait.

My psychologist will come into the waiting room and call my name when it's my turn.

There are many hallways and doors at Florissa, so I will follow the directions the psychologist gives me and walk with the psychologist to the right office.

I will go to an office with a table and chairs to sit in.
When I am with the psychologist, we will play, do brain games, and talk.

It is my job to do the best I can,
even if the games and questions are hard. We will take breaks when I need them.

It is fun to follow directions and meet with the psychologist!

My psychologist will tell me when our time is all done.

I will take anything I brought with me when my time is all done, but I will have to leave the psychologist's things in the room.

We will walk down the hallway back to the waiting room where someone will be waiting to take me home.

It is time to leave for today. The psychologist will tell me if I will come back another day or not. We will say, "Goodbye," and leave Florissa.

Everyone will be proud of me. It's fun to meet with the psychologist!
